Sift provides a cloud-based, machine learning platform that is used to predict user intent and prevent fraudulent activity in real time (the "Sift Service"). The Sift Service identifies patterns in data, using custom and global models that leverage both the specific customer's data and the data provided by all other customers. 1.1 Service Generally. Customer wishes to use the Sift Service in connection with its services and properties (the "Customer Properties"). Sift will provide the Sift Service in accordance with the terms of this Agreement. Sift will provide Customer application programming interfaces, SDKs and other technologies (collectively, the "APIs") to enable Customer to access and implement the Sift Service in connection with the Customer Properties. In connection with such use, the Raw Data will be aggregated with raw data from the other customers of the Sift Service. In addition, results provided to other third party customers of the Sift Service will not include any identifiers of Customer as the source of any data.
3. Sift Privacy Policy. Sift will at all times maintain a privacy policy that is readily accessible on its website and that provides accurate disclosures concerning its data practices, including the processing of personal information for fraud detection and prevention purposes.
